Last time I saw Cole
He was working a car wash Stole money and burned the whole thing down for the mafia, got payed real good

Next time I saw Cole
He was working for the circus
He used to get drunk and beat up some midgets, that was Cole

He said, "You'd never believe the things I've seen and done," that wa s Cole
He said, "You'd never believe the things I've seen and done," that wa s Cole

Last time I saw Cole
His picture was everywhere In movies, magazines, posed with supermodels, presidents and kings an d queens, that was Cole

Last time I saw Cole
He was in the Pope's entourage traveling through town
He kissed his hand and everything, I couldn't believe it, that was Co

He told me on the phone, "You wouldn't believe the things I've seen a nd done," that was Cole He said, "Harley, you wouldn't believe the things I've seen and done,

Everybody from the neighborhood, they couldn't believe it, about Cole and everything

His mother still lived in that old shack on Jones St., that was Cole

He said, "You'd never believe the things I've seen and done," that wa

Last time I saw Cole
He was in town, he looked scared and haggard, drunk or something He said, "Come to my hotel room, please,"

I met him there, opened the door
He was in the bathroom, his body riddled with bullets
I heard somebody coming up the stairs, so I ran

I didn't hear anything on the news, or in the newspapers, I called hi s office

His secretary told me he had to go back to Panama for business, that was Cole

To this day, I've never seen Cole again

I know his fate, but I shall not say a word about this to anyone, for I fear for my own life

What he saw and what he did, I will not know
But I know, that was Cole
