

Smiles All Round

Deaf Havana

So, where do I begin?
I woke up today
Dragged this broken suitcase through the rain
I've been searching for the inspiration
Got lost along the way
And you said before I left,
"James, don't you drink yourself to death"
Well my darling, I'm afraid I can't keep that promise
Or even try my best.

So while you sleep alone tonight
I'll be up 'till the morning light
So for now, things will be alright

Another place that felt like home for these past 7 months
Is nothing but a number on a door
And a street that felt familiar once
And I've got this great ability
To ruin everything that's good for me
And i swear I won't be satisfied 'till everything goes wrong
( 'Till everything goes wrong)

While you sleep alone tonight
I'll be up 'till the morning light
So for now, things will be alright

I know soon there will be a day
When these glazed eyes will fade away
'Cause the truth is I'm not okay

I will start again
I will retrace every step
I'll start again
I'll start, again

So while you sleep alone tonight
I'll be up 'till the morning light
So for now, things will be alright

I know soon there will be a day
When these glazed eyes will fade away
'Cause the truth is I'm not okay

So while you sleep alone tonight
While you sleep alone tonight
Will you sleep alone tonight?
I'll be up 'till the morning light
Tonight.
