

I've Loved Enough To Know

Deana Carter

I hear what you're telling me but that don't make it so
Two timing, talking sweet from the time your feet hit the floor

My heart is telling me it's time to let you go
Oh baby, let go

I've loved enough to know
A heartache when I see one coming
Been down this road before
I've loved enough to know

Every night out with the boys, you think I'm so naive
Well, I know exactly where you're going every time you leave
I see every little something up your sleeve
Oh baby, I can see

I've loved enough to know
A heartache when I see one coming
Been down this road before
I've loved enough to know

I've loved enough to know
A heartache when I see one coming
Been down this road before
I've loved enough to know

I've loved enough to know
A heartache when I see one coming
Been down this road before
I've loved enough to know
A heartache when I see one
And I see one coming
A heartache when I see one
And I see one coming

I see one, I see one coming
I see one, I see one coming
I see one, I see one coming
