Monkey (go Home Now)

Dear Reader

Galileo, marrige of Figaro You have shown the world where we ought to go Mother, Mahatma, Madiba, together forever

Wondrous things beyond what I can understand
The television where I watched a Doctor grow a human hand
Great woman and men
You can say that again
You are nothing like them

What does it take to be great, is it fate? What does it take to be great, is it fate? What it takes to be great is a tortured state

As a child you drew up an impressive list Astronaut, fire-woman, archaeologist Something that mattered Oh Darling, you had it what happened?

What does it take to be great, is it fate? What does it take to be great, is it fate? What it takes to be great is a tortured state And fate So you can home

Why would you want to be great anyway?
Why would you want to be great anyway?
What it takes to be great is a tortured state
And I know you've got that made

But fate
Yes fate
You can go home now
You can go home
