

Pulling Down The Sun

Deas Vail

I close my eyes and I'm pulling down the sun.
Into my head where it burns me from the inside out
I melt away I don't know what I've become
I'm so afraid that I will never find the open arms of love.
Why can't I forget the words you, seem to forget not to say.

Oh, oh, oh...how did I become the one that's fallen?
Now everything I know is a version of what was...

Not this again, with your cumulus demands.
It never ends, are you failing me again?
I'm fading away in the dark.

Oh, oh, oh...how did I become the one that's fallen?
Now everything I know is a version of what was...
Covered underneath the snow.
You have forgotten me and left me hopeless
Becoming what I know. I don't want to be all alone.

Children on their knees
Stolen from their homes and mothers
Lost among the weeds
They will never sing again (2x)

Oh, oh, oh...how did I become the one that's fallen?
Now everything I know is a version of what was...
Covered underneath the snow.
You have forgotten me and left me hopeless
Becoming what I know. I don't want to be all alone.