Many Enemies Bring Much Honour

Death in June

Dressed not in mourning but in black See the fire in our eyes Always ready to fight back Never hiding in disguise

Many enemies bring much honour...

The fighting man shall from the sun Take warmth and life from the glowing earth Speed with the light-foot winds to run And with the trees to newer birth An all-bright company of heaven Hold him in high comradeship The dog-star and the sister seven The Will to Power and a sworded hip

Many enemies bring much honour...

And when the burning moment breaks And all things else are out of mind

And only joy of battle takes Him by the throat and makes him blind Through joy and blindness he shall know Not caring much to know that still Nor lead nor steel shall reach him so That it be not his Destined Will

Many enemies bring much honour...

The thundering line of battle stands And in the air, death's history The day shall clasp him with strong hands The night shall hold sweet victory The woodland trees that stand together They stand to him each one a friend

Many enemies bring much honour...
