

Yells From The Abyss

Deathspell Omega

Death is not an eternal and peaceful rest,
a kind of beautiful paradise.
Indeed you'll meet your almighty maker,
but he's not the one you think he is.

There is no sweet kingdom of heaven,
full of flowers and green landscapes.
No god will welcome you with open arms,
like a father who forgives all your sins.

In fact Death is a sempiternal nightmare,
where unknown tortures tear your soul to pieces.
You left your body but you still feel the pain,
imprisoned by infernal demons forever.

In the deepest abyss, every human soul is the slave and the toy of Satan.
His armies play with you till they are fed up,
and throw your spiritual essence in the lake of fire.
Hell is the superior dimension that slowly annihilate the weak nature...

The torment never stops and you pray for a final death.
You await an endless void that will never come.
No resurrection will save you from this extreme agony.
There is no escape from this world of suffering,
and in your previous world no one can hear you scream.
Scream and taste our hate!
Total invasion will soon begin on earth,
Hell will rise from the abyss to eradicate each atom of life.