

he said, go round the back way he said, avoid the road more travelled he said, hold tight onto your smile when it's dark out & you, so fragile you won't see the ground, but it will rise beneath you are steady on your feet until it hits you in the teeth you will know it when you've gone too far, your sight grows in & narrow you cannot see the stars above you they love you in their far away way they ask you sincerely to stay, hey, stay she said, look up once in a while she said, remember things there always remain blossoms in the spring birds remember to sing & you will do the same

you will know it when you've gone too far,
your sight grows in & narrow
you cannot see the stars above you
they love you in their far away way
they ask you sincerely to stay, hey, stay buildings hurdle by the train as you ride you don't know where & you don't know why all you can do is dry your eyes cry like a little child sometimes it takes a while to be born

you will know it when you've gone too far,
your sight grows in & narrow
you cannot see the stars above you
they love you in their far away way
they ask you sincerely to stay, hey, stay