

September

Deep Insight

September,
the first snowflakes have fallen down, from the sky She's like a helpless child left alone in the dark, no place to run, no place to hide except the pain of the cut she's waiting, just waiting for the moment to end it all you were the one, your soul was left alone sweet angel without love why all the stars were fading from your sky when you needed caring there wasn't any time molested child, abused and tied to the chains of fear rejected so many times, no wonder she was shy i felt so ashamed of my good part everytime I saw her scars she hated life and can you blame her after all she had to take

why all the stars were fading from your sky

detective, we have a potential witness you should see...

why all the stars were fading from your sky
