

Sometimes I'm Always There

Deep Insight

Sometimes I'm always there
You promised me when you lied to me
This time I need to know

Somehow I'm lost in here
You promised me when you lied to me
This time I need to know

Of all the baggage I've abandoned
Common sense, would be nice to get it back
One moment in value
Rather than a thousand in success

I can't go on pretending
I have to use my head and think again
By leaving the venue
I pulled the pin out of the grenade

Sometimes I'm always there
You promised me when you lied to me
This time I need to know

Somehow I'm lost in here
You promised me when you lied to me
This time I need to know

Life is ours, but it's not the same
We move slow, still we're never in retreat
But how far do we have to go
To see an end, and to see the ends meet

Of all the baggage I've abandoned
Such a simple thing to let you go
By saying "I love you"
I gave a loaded gun for you to shoot away

What am I supposed to say this time?
I kept you in a corner of my mind
How am I supposed to make things right
When all you want is another place to hide?

Sometimes I'm always there
You promised me when you lied to me
This time I need to know

Somehow I'm lost in here
You promised me when you lied to me
This time I need to know