Fountain Stairs

Deerhunter

I forgot my book At the fountain stairs At a chapter on symmetry Nobody cares

And I had a smoke While I traced the squares Put my finger to concrete Felt the autumn air

When I look around I can feel it spinning Feet on the ground Head on the ceiling

Sun on my shirt Sweat on my hands All falling in retrograde Cancel all my plans

And I had to look At the marching band Skip across the pavement Nobody's there

When I look around I can feel it spinning Feet on the ground Head on the ceiling