

Blind

Default

You know, what you are, some superstar
That's never been anywhere

Me, I won't pretend to know
Say, I don't see through now
Some phony standing up there

Close your eyes and hope that no one else will see
You realize exactly what you'll never be
This time the curtain's landing on you
Someday, I'm gonna see this come true

Back then, when we were friends
To the end, you promised we'd always be

Now it seems you've got a different dream
Thanks for including me
You spell we so differently

Close your eyes and hope that no one else will see
You realize exactly what you'll never be
This time the curtain's landing on you
Someday, I'm gonna see this come true

Close your eyes and hope that no one else will see
You realize exactly what you'll never be
This time the curtain's landing on you
Someday, I'm gonna see this come true

Close your eyes and hope that no one else will see
You realize exactly what you'll never be
This time the curtain's landing on you
Someday, I'm gonna see this come true

I'm gonna see this come true