

Final Hour

Defiance

two flags fly in a blood red sky under the same sun
flames roaring over shatter the silence bringing hell from above the end is nigh as you fall to your knees and pray to your idols your hopes and dreams all start to fade there's no chance for survival
..it's your final hour

two soldiers die from opposite sides
sworn to allegiance proudly they march pawns of the system spent rounds hit the ground as you fall to your knees it's ashes to ashes your hopes and dreams are carried away like many before you
..it's your final hour

[the guitar solo]

protest alone or begging for peace won't upset the system as long as there are nations, leaders and gods our days are numbered a line has been drawn which side are you on?
it's a fight for survival your fate lies before you so stand and be counted rise or fall
..it your final hour
