

Eternal sun

Deine Lakaïen

my sword, your trust, my lies, your thirst,
...why
I could have told you,
you would have
sighed

I could have killed for you... there by my side
your rays eternal, just thrilled, lost by your side

and if you'd bring me
autumn leaves again
you'd see me running
straight to your place

your mother said
please don't leave, please don't your father quiet, but thought the same
...don't but anger told, try to keep please don't blindness diminished and fate was a thief

you'd see me running

and as if sunrays would keep us keep us from harm
and as if saints would have shown us shown us our hearts
we'll find the truth being soldiers close to the path
close to the secret of delchev's path

you'd see me running

if you would try
eternal sun
I'd be your slave...once again
