

Nevermore

Deine Lakaian

They say that everyone goes out into the streets, they say that spring is back in town.
And people looking at each other and no one will be left alone.

High walls fighting the skies
high walls protecting my life

They say that I should better leave my dungeon,
so I can breathe again.
And I pretend
not to hear not to see
Don't you know why?
Don't you know why?

Nevermore will I fall in love
Nevermore will I fall in love
no more laughter,
no more tears in my eyes
no more belief,
and no more these white lies.

All in the past in faithful one with one, locked in tender sweet embrace one tiny sign and you were one with me far from a distant place

High walls fighting the skies
high walls protecting my life

They say that I should not remain alone,
I should rejoin my friends.
And I pretend
not to see not to hear
Don't you know why?
Don't you know why?

Nevermore will I fall in love
Nevermore will I fall in love
no more laughter,
no more tears in my eyes
no more belief,
and no more these white lies.

And now my days are paralysed with gloomy pressure and sadness everywhere and future prospects will be hindered by despondency and tiredness

High walls fighting the skies
high walls protecting my life

And all around they say that spring is back in town that spring is back in town.

And I pretend
not to hear not to see not to hear
Don't you know why?
Don't you know why?

Nevermore will I fall in love
Nevermore will I fall in love
no more laughter,
no more tears in my eyes
no more belief,
and no more these white lies.