

sadness and joy are two words, but just one name ever since you went away I'm waiting for a sign, I'd like to bring you back don't know what to say can't trust the silence that stayed a while in me just to catch a breath I heard it sing out in no language what your one 'no' meant words make lies, please read my thoughts your one no breaks my world apart

words make lies, please read my thoughts
with one yes from you two parts become one sometimes things that go on between us don't work out like I want it's 'cause instead of you I'm learning who I am should have learned that by heart sometimes you hear things I did not want to say many words but no meaning and I keep forgetting what really matters what I really mean

words make lies, please read my thoughts
your one no breaks my world apart
words make lies, please read my thoughts
with one yes from you two parts become one

don't you ever think we're here we're here to realize that we really need need no words

words make lies, please read my thoughts
your one no breaks my world apart
words make lies, please read my thoughts
with one yes from you two parts become one