Fighting for no reward

Cold in the rain I'm tossing and turning your words ever burning my heart Love's an electric storm of pleasure and pain where thunder and lightening a re crashing And Striking us down

Two people shipwrecked Stranded alone Praying for dry land to save our souls Hurricane season just knocked us down Emotional suicides running the ground

Fighting for no reward

Cold in the rain I'm tossing and turning your words ever burning my heart Love's an electric storm of pleasure and pain where thunder and lightening a re crashing And Striking us

I won't give up never never
I won't be struck by the weather
Hold on when the wind's so strong
Tell me how can we find our way home in love's electric storm

Feels like our last chance to get out alive Will we survive this treachous night Predators waiting circling around Sky full of fireworks burn without sound

Fighting for no reward

Cold in the rain I'm tossing and turning your words ever burning my heart Love's an electric storm of pleasure and pain where thunder and lightening a re crashing And Striking us

I won't give up never never
I won't be struck by the weather
Hold on when the wind's so strong
Tell me how can we find our way home in loves electric storm

Have we never been stronger?
Have we never been tighter?
But we're close to the wire again
Have we never been safer?

Fighting for no reward

Cold in the rain I'm tossing and turning your words ever burning my heart Love's an electric storm of pleasure and pain where thunder and lightening a re crashing And Striking us down

I won't give up never never
I won't be struck by the weather
Hold on when the wind's so strong
Tell me how can we find our way home
Tell me how can we find our way home
In love's electric storm
