Wish You Were Here

Delta Goodrem

I've been knock, knock, knocking at the thought of your door But you're not, not, not here anymore I ring, ring, ring - you're every thought in my head But I can't get through, the connection is dead

I want, want to tell you about the news today But you wouldn't believe me, you'd laugh it away There's a ghost standing at the foot of my bed And it's you, it's you, it was you

They told me who was in trouble I couldn't breathe on the other side of the world And there was nothing I could do to help you And it's true today it'd be your birthday It would've been your 27th year And I miss you in the earth's atmosphere I wish you were here

I go back, back, back, and every memory you're there But the clock ticks over every minute we shared On my knees begging for it not to be true But it was you, was you, was you, it was you

They told me who was in trouble I couldn't breathe on the other side of the world And there was nothing I could do to help you And it's true today it'd be your birthday It would've been your 27th year And I miss you in the earth's atmosphere I wish you were here

Instead of just in my dreams and in my imagination Confusing me completely from another dimension Can you see the beauty from a new beginning somewhere? 'Cause I feel like I won't repair with time

It was you, was you, was you, it was you

They told me who was in trouble I couldn't breathe on the other side of the world And there was nothing I could do to help you And it's true today it'd be your birthday It would've been your 27th year And I miss you in the earth's atmosphere I wish you were here
