

Stake in the Heart

Demented Are Go!

I thought it was love you should've seen her a gothic bitch with schitzophrenia but i guess it's all over now yeah she thought i was a vampire a web of poison she took me in there hypnotised with her loves, lies, deceit

Stake in the heart
mistake from the start thought it was love never ending the stakes too high the price my life she took an axe and she went crazy

She took me back to her padded cell opened the door and said welcome to hell but I guess it's only me to blame

She tied me up for a night of passion all my fears were forgotten but the stake came down my life blood flowed away

Now I lie on the sofa bleeding that gothic bitch she starts cleaning as the stake came down she dusts away