

My Ally Anger

Dementor

All the hate I feel
All the anger filling me from within
Makes my thoughts weak and slack
And weakness always tends to hurt

Anger accompanies me
And I feel its presence
I hate my ally anger
But I can not find defence

Christian is not worthy of being my enemy
He is less than the stone I trample on
I still can not find the point
Why I waste so much time on hating you

Their belief leads them down
I do not need to help them to die
Their extinction is about to come
All their lies are fading down forever

Now I am summoning the darkness
And send my ally to lead you down
No more mercy in my heart
No more anger in my eyes