

we are feeding the machine from this inner cage i made your body be now, but don't stare at me now, I'm nearly gone but go figure it all, was it worth searching far beyond? then i will carry on...

gathering space and time when i am yours and you are mine this life will carry us away in the glimpse of an eye the smile on your face today shows in everything you say that this life will carry us away but in this realm, i am eternal scratching the surface from this inner grave i built you a country my love, this kingdom's not the one we belong to but don't be ashamed at all, it was worth hiding for so long now we are made of stone...

gathering space and time
when i am yours and you are mine
this life will carry us away in the glimpse of an eye
the smile on your face today shows in everything you say
that this life will carry us away
but in this realm, i am eternal

wake up, we listened to the waves we found the world that could wash away your tears at your will stand up, we listened to the wind we found a moment to just slow down and stay still now lay down and feel our love growing now that our hearts can beat side by side, now we can believe in ours elves and what lies beneath us, the earth, and what lies underneath

gathering space and time
when i am yours and you are mine
this life will carry us away in the glimpse of an eye
the smile on your face today shows in everything you say
that this life will carry us away
but in this realm, i am eternal

i won't say this every time i won't let you say it's sad