

This I Know

Demon Hunter

Let my soul be a silent sword
Conceived in the fire of war
I am the ruthless bane of the wicked world
And I prayed on the killing sworn
When I carve my name across this place it is
True to violent pain and by your ways

And every breath like a threat for tomorrow's embrace...
And the battle is my way
I will go this path alone
I will take unto my prey
This I know

All others will fall

Let my will be a violent path
To tear apart what's left
All will falls down around my feet when I speak with a word of wrath
When I carve my name across this place it is
True to violent pain and by your ways

And every breath like a threat for tomorrow's embrace...
And the battle is my way
I will go this path alone
I will take unto my prey
This I know
I will not release the pain
My suffering will show
In the fight I find my name
This I know

The weight of my call
One name above all
All others will fall

And the battle is my way
I will go this path alone
I will take unto my prey
This I know
I will not release the pain
My suffering will show
In the fight I find my name
This I know

The weight of my call
One name above all
All others will fall