

Everything Has Changed

Demon

They were fighting for their civil rights
We were raising hell on motorbikes
Then someone shouted anarchy
We all got up to dance
We answered revolutions call
Drove the politicians up the wall
But I guess we knew that it would end
When we outgrew the cause

Everything has changed, nothing stays the same

The fashion thing was all the rage
With bristles studs and razor blades
Our parents thought that we were mad
We'd totally lost control
It was anti this and anti that
But still they fed us all that crap
About God the queen, the flag
It was still worth dying for

Everything has changed, nothing stays the same
Everything has changed, nothing stays the same

Now we stand for king and queen
And all of life's desires
Two kids, a wife, suburbia and an XR3 on hire
Now we sing God save the queen
With a lot more of tradition
We gladly stand and fall in line
And forget the things we'd written

The spirit I can still recall when I
Heard it in the record store
The songs that broke the barriers down
And gave us back our youth
Freedom was our battle cry
We swore we'd live or else we'd die
And change the world a little bit
While we still had the time

Everything has changed, nothing stays the same

Every generation comes of age
And settles for the same old ways
The rebel song is handed down to
New champions of the cause
But we always will remember when
Those magic days of us and them
Before we all grew up and moved away

Everything has changed, nothing stays the same

Now we stand for king and queen
And all of life's desires
Two kids, a wife, suburbia and an XR3 on hire
Now we sing God save the queen
With a lot more of tradition

We gladly stand and fall in line
And forget the things we'd written

Everything has changed, nothing stays the same

Now we stand for king and queen
And all of life's desires
Two kids, a wife, suburbia and an XR3 on hire
Now we sing God save the queen
With a lot more of tradition
We gladly stand and fall in line
And forget, forget
