All Alone

Dennis Wilson

If I could live my life again I'd never do you wrong You better know, oh

If I just had a chance again To spend my life again You know, it's in my soul, oh

I'd be standing by your side Not to ever let you go

If I only had a chance to live a life that we belong Would I be strong? If I didn't take the time and never try to understand Ooh, my love, where it's gone

In the sadness that I love is left behind I'm standing all alone

If I could stand to love again Plant another seed You know, would it grow, oh

If I could share my life again With all the love I have for you, my love Would it grow? Where would it go?

Ooh, it's gone In the sadness that I love is left behind I'm standing all alone

All alone
