

I see you coming in
And it's as if I've been awakened
Maybe you were born for me
And I'm feeling so alive and
I'm overcome with pleasure
So deep in fantasy
And It's taken all I have not to give myself away
And it seems to be getting closer within each and everyday
And I have to hold on to my emotions as they stray
So I try to walk away

I'm overwhelmed by the sight
When your beauty fills me up
With the feeling of the night

I'll follow
You through the window
Don't you know
That you'll bring some life to me
Tonight

Secretly I wonder
And I wait for an invitation
Maybe you are onto me
And I wonder if you know
All the beauty that you give
Pretending not to see

And I see you alone sometimes
And you begin to cry
And My heart splits wide open
As I begin to wonder why
So I look and turn
And scream into the sky
So I try to walk away

I'm overwhelmed by the sight
When your beauty fills me up
With the feeling of the night

I'll follow
You through the window
Don't you know
That you'll bring some life to me

And I'll follow
Through the window
Watching where you go
Wonder if you see me too
Tonight

What should I do?
Should I call out to you?
Should I let you know?
Should I let it go?
What should I do?
Should knock on your door?

Should I let you know who?
Should I let it go?

I have to try and find
Some courage I've left behind
Some day, some way
I've got to tell you

I'll follow
You through the window
Don't you know
That you'll bring some life to me

And I'll follow
Wherever you go
You've got to let me know
If you see me too

And I'll follow
You through the window
You've got to let me know
If you see, you see
Me too
