

It's Too Late

Derailers

We had our chance to make those vows
Fell in love then out somehow, at least you did
I kept the flame burning bright
But to save my foolish pride I kept it hid

It's too late, I can hear the church bells ringing
Lord, it's too late, listen to the choir singing
And the tears are wellin' up and my heart's about to break
When the ring goes on your finger, it's too late

Hold his hand and say "I do" and he'll say
The same to you and you won't hesitate
So there you are, here I am
A fool alone wondering why did I wait

It's too late, I can hear the church bells ringing
Lord, it's too late, listen to the choir singing
And the tears are wellin' up and my heart's about to break
When the ring goes on your finger, it's too late

Well if I knew then, what I know now
I'd not have been so doggone proud

Well, it's too late, I can hear the church bells ringing
Lord, it's too late, listen to the choir singing
And the tears are wellin' up and my heart's about to break
When the ring goes on your finger

Lord it's too late, I can hear the church bells ringing
Lord, it's too late, listen to the choir singing
And the tears are wellin' up and my heart's about to break
When the ring goes on your finger
My love for you still lingers, it's too late
When the ring goes on your finger, it's too late
