

After the Storm

Derdian

Gray, I'm all of gray rain above
I can feel reverts of water everywhere
And all around rubble floating on the rug
Don't you see, rain is still falling on the ground?

And I let it decide
'Cause I'm here still alive

When the sun will rise
And my life begins again
I'll get out of all this pain
I'm not here to die
When my heart will cry
I will never lose the rain
But I won't forget the day
When the storm has come to blind the sky

Raid! I can't do nothing more than watch
I have raid, my fists have shaken, feel so cold

And I'm talking alone
Chasing daggers, feel my soul
I don't feel nothing more
To say after the storm

When the sun will rise
And my life begins again
I'll get out of all this pain
I'm not here to die
When my heart will cry
I will never lose the rain
But I won't forget the day
When the storm has come to blind the sky