Myage

Descendents

Almost ready, almost there Or is it already over She's a friend in need She's a friend in deed She needs someone to hold her Alone at night, she plans her game Correctly thinking that I'm in pain But every night it's always the same She be a-fuckin' with my brain 'Cause she don't need no one We all want to play your game with you We know you're just a starter But there's no reason for you to quit Just 'cause we try harder I don't want to talk on the telephone I don't want to see no pictures She'll find out just what she needs And when she does I'll get her She feels safe when she's with him 'Cause he'll never try anything with her Well you know now girl, just what want Are you going to let it scare you?

I knew you would She don't need no one And she don't need me
