I Still Believe In You

Desert Rose Band

Beautiful liar, heartless survivor, Where are you taking me now Smooth operator, do it all later, When will you ever come down I still believe in you now, Somehow, I still believe in you now We've been together a year and forever, You should know me by now

There's trouble in my mind, I can't find the right lines To get to you somehow I still believe in you now, Somehow, I still believe in you now

And that feeling that I get inside Everytime I see the sun in your eyes Then the moon starts to crying Our hearts not denying A feeling we can hold through the night

Beautiful dreamer make me life sweet Dream a song in my heart I'm running on empty I know you've been tempted To close the door from the start I still believe in you now somehow I still believe in you now

And that feeling that I get inside Everytime I see the sun in your eyes Then the moon starts to crying Our hearts not denying A feeling we can hold through the night

Beautiful liar, heartless survivor, Where are you taking me now Smooth operator, do it all later, When will you ever come down I still believe in you now, Somehow, I still believe in you now I still believe in you now, Somehow, I still believe in you now
