

All alone

Destination Anywhere

You thought your visions would succeed
And now you're drowning into deep
You cannot tell the good from bad no more
You're lost and you can't see the shore
The others they won't help no more
No swim like you never swam before

Cause you can run you can bite
Out of the shadow in the light
You can fight and you can win
If you believe
Into yourself into the good
Don't do it like the others would
And you will raise and you will pull yourself ashore

You are all alone
And it's time to find yourself somehow
When nothings left
You might use the chance to rearrange
You're all alone
And it's time to find yourself somehow
When nothings left
You should rethink to like yourself

All hope is gone and everyone
Calls you the lost forgotten one
Whats your name its is a shame
They never knew
And it won't be you will see
You're not important you are free
And you can do
whatever comes into your mind

And every end is a beginning
And every end is a beginning
One day you lose one day you're winning
And every end is a beginning