

The stranger

Destination Anywhere

He is going down the road from where hes been
And he can't even feel the warm breeze and the rain
And then the snow came hes still goin
Has a long way to go yet but he does not even complain

And hes a stranger
Doesn't matter where he goes
Cause hes far away from home
And there is nobody who knows
All the trouble hes been through
The desperation and the lies
The alliance of a few
A story of a former life

He cannot speak and cannot feel and cannot see no more
Hes walkin and hes dreamin of the past
Dreams of the time before the darkness came into his cosy home
The darkness stayed he went away

And hes a stranger
Doesn't matter where he goes
Cause hes far away from home
And there is nobody who knows
All the trouble hes been through
The desperation and the lies
The alliance of a few
A story of a former life

But when the sunshine comes again
And when the flowers are in bloom
And when the shadows go away
Will be the day
Where he can rest and say
I'm homogay

And when he stops along the way not for too long
He cannot trust into somebody else no more
And when he comes into a town the mothers lock the kids away
His eyes are black and shine no more

And hes a stranger
Doesn't matter where he goes
Cause hes far away from home
And there is nobody who knows
All the trouble hes been through
The desperation and the lies
The alliance of a few
A story of a former life

But when the sunshine comes again
And when the flowers are in bloom
And when the shadows go away
Will be the day
Where he can rest and say
I'm homogay
