

It began about half a century ago
with the foundation of the hopeless empire of 1000 years Commanded by a ruler of cruelty
a nation captivated by idealism Why do we take the responsibility of his insanity
although we've never asked for that legacy?
Incriminated - no forgiveness
Incriminated - no forgiveness
Indescribable, inhuman greed for power supported by fanatics under his spell Obsessed by his aim to wipe out non-arayans he rushed millions of people into disaster
Why do we take the responsibility
of his insanity
although we've never asked for that legacy?
Incriminated - no forgiveness
Incriminated - no forgiveness
More than 40 years after his predestined fall we still got to take the responsibility For those events we know from the history book Why should we feel guilty for deeds done in the past?
It began about half a century ago,
with the foundation of the hopeless empire of 1000 years
Commanded by a ruler of cruelty
a nation captived with idealism
Why do we take the responsibility
of his insanity
although we've never asked for that legacy?