All the faces, all the voices seem to fade in the crowd Neurotic minds realize the danger expect their destiny, fear the future Past never changes running into unconscious ruins future can't be hidden starring at unconscious ruins The mor they know, the less they talk one day apprehensions will com true Human beings blown out like candles Mankind executed by itself Past never changes running into unconscious ruins future can't be hidden starring at unconscious ruins It's not too late to realize why people fake ignorance inside they are scared to death but too weak to react. Past never changes running into unconscious ruins future can't be hidden starring at unconscious ruins Death is knocking at your backdoor don't turn your back in this the fall of humanity nuclear holocaust our imminent fate? Past never changes running into unconscious ruins future can't be hidden starring at unconscious ruins