

I can remember the times
When the grace was shining on my face
Don't you see,
don't you feel those days are gone They've vanished in the air.
Now I could not care less of you and your poisoned mind Cos' I have already seen this thousand times

My emotions are hidden in a place where you can't see Hate is replacing the dreams that we once shared On these frontlines, frontlines of mysteries

Hell yeah!

I can remember the love At some point it became one with my hate
And I can see how you are wasting your life, wasting your dignity
The light in my eyes is fading away
But I bleed no tears cos' I know your destiny

How blind can you be?
Don't you know what I mean?

Lovedivided, Lovedivided
Extending agony
Lovedivided, Lovedivided

I hate your empty words and the grin on your face, ah!