Mechanical Ethos

Diabulus In Musica

Ready to roll downhill again in this funny wheel

And get submerged in this idyllic game where there's no need to think

No strategic plays, just follow their rhythm Let yourself get lost in others' dreams

Proud of our consciousness, a treasure inside that they cannot destroy

Our minds being poisoned, injected by lies, human cores violate d

A realm where our hands are tied But our minds still stay free Don't believe what we are shown We are under control

Ready to let your creed be settled, well organized The guarantee of the correct life pattern that everyone should live

A superficial radiance, a shallow success Carton puppets hang by golden threads