Just Another Heart

Diamond Rio

You treat love like a game But you don't play by any rules You keep an ace held up your sleeve For any unsuspectin' fool I thought I would be different So I did not expect That to you I'd be another Heart in the deck

Just another heart For you to shuffle around Just a little part Of a bigger game that's going down I don't like this deal So I'll get out while I still can I don't want to be Just another heart in your hand

Like a riverboat gambler Someday you'll lose your touch To a smooth operator Who cheats you out of love When your diamonds turn to teardrops When your gold begins to rust It's then you will know this feeling Of running out of trust I'm

Just another heart For you to shuffle around Just a little part Of a bigger game that's going down I don't like this deal So I'll get out while I still can I don't want to be Just another heart in your hand

I can't take anymore Of what you're not giving me I can live with a lot But I don't want to be

Just another heart For you to shuffle around Just a little part Of a bigger game that's going down I don't like this deal So I'll get out while I still can I don't want to be Just another heart in your hand

I don't like this deal So I'll get out while I still can 'Cause I don't want to be Just another heart in your hand
