

Leaving The Country

Diana Anaid

I saw a letter it was written in your handwriting but it wasn't for me
Saying you'll miss everyone when you're gone leaving the countr y
I pretended not to know and you just pretend See how long you can keep up my hopes before it all ends You're so cruel to me
The first time we really went out together I was so excited Until you turned up with one of your mates and it was just another night then You told him you were going away for a year
You couldn't even say it to my face you didn't even care You're so cruel to me, I forgive you so easily even though you're mean, I forgive you so easily I laughed when you were leaving so you'd remember me that way Then I found a little hole to hide in and I cried for a year and a day It's really good to see you, I'd love to touch you too
I know things have changed and you keep away but can't I say I miss you You're so cruel to me, I forgive you so easily
even though you're mean, I forgive you so easily
