

Dark Side of the World

Diana Ross

Don't leave me, don't leave me here
On the dark side of the world

My days are darker than your nights
Since I lost you, babe
Since I lost you, babe

I'm like an ember
Fading out of sight
One more tear, and I know I'll disappear
Bring back the sunshine
That you took away

'Cause I need ya
And I want ya
Just don't think I'm gonna make it without your love

Don't you know
Such a loneliness I've never known
Since I lost you, babe
Since I lost you, babe
I'm like a woman who once knew splendor
Now all her wealth and riches
They are gone

Bring back the sunshine
That you took away
'Cause I need ya
And I want ya
And I just don't think I'm gonna make it without your love

Bring back the sunshine that you took away
Now my future lies in back of me
Since I lost you, babe
Since I lost you, babe
I walk this lonely road to eternity
Just despair and emptiness everywhere

Bring back the sunshine
That you took away
'Cause I need ya
And I want ya
I just don't think I'm gonna make it without your love

Don't leave me, don't leave me here
On the dark side of the world

Oh, don't you leave me here
On the dark side of the world
'Cause I need ya
Oh, you know I want ya
Right here on the dark side of the world
