My Hip

Diana Vickers

I dream of the day when we find we find ourselves And we are both together/ we are both together Speaking your truth you have lost me lost me In a place that is so tender, it is so tender

Your hand is back where it belongs On my hip on my hip Your voice is sweet and it's singing me a song Your hand is back where it belongs On my hip on my hip Your voice is sweet and you're singing me a song

You touch makes me blind I don't want to see not now no no not ever oh no not ever Smiling this way and I wonder could it be forever Wonder could it be could it be forever

Your hand is back where it belongs On my hip on my hip Your voice is sweet and it's singing me a song Your hand is back where it belongs On my hip on my hip Your voice is sweet and you're singing me a song

Your hand is back where it belongs On my hip on my hip Your voice is sweet and it's singing me a song Your hand is back where it belongs On my hip on my hip Your voice is sweet and you're singing me a song

I dream of the day when we find we find ourselves And we are both together/ we are both together Speaking your truth you have lost me lost me In a place that is so tender, it is so tender
