

Survive!

Mankind is suffering a severe instability
My friend you know, I swear, this was never written
We are not alone, but we are left by ourselves
We thirst for water, we hunger for a bite to eat

What is this faith for?
If there is nothing to believe in?
What is this world for?
If there is nothing to adore?

I can feel the warmth of the dying sun upon my face
I can see the bloody circle diving into the horizon
Deeply in love with the gloom disappearing
To leave me on my own
What is it that I can do to make this moment last forever?

For mankind!
This is mankind!
Mankind!
This is mankind!

What is this world without you in it,
Without you giving it its colors?
What is that feeling
That conquers me once you are gone,
I feel forgotten!
How can I be so naive,
So ignorant to think you really care!
Watching the world around me change its ugly faces,
Yes this is mankind!
