They were children fighting in the fields
Muddy faces, bows and arrows
Pretending that their fatal wounds would heal
But that was then and this is now

Give me a reason A reason to stay I am lost, confused Worlds away

So give me the answer
Show me the way
Cause I'm bound to lose
Feel betrayed

Now they're fighting in the killing fields Digging trenches, drowning sorrows No pretending now, the pain is real Asking why and what it's for

So welcome to the real world It's a question of belief Is it worth dying for

Give me the power
The power to stay
I am weak, confused
Worlds away

So give me the patience To rescue my faith Cause I'm sure to lose This crusade