what is happening to me no one could foresee i was living on the edge of catastrophe thrown off the system nailed and bare fish out of water jumping for air stranded with no help outlawed and shunned luck turned against me thousand to one some call it fate what's my reality world allied against me fatal conspiracy

i can't take it, i can't take it i can't take it no more worst case scenario

in the elevator to heaven i'm stuck on the lowest level run out of luck a downward spiral is sucking me in my plans for the future a case for the bin no glimmering hope brightens my night at the end of the tunnel there is no light some call it fate

what's my reality
world allied against me fatal conspiracy
