Breathe You In

Dierks Bentley

I've never been the kind To bear my heart and soul, Yeah I've always taken pride, Staying in control. I told myself, I'd never fall too deep. But girl you came along, And made a liar out of me. I'm as gone, As I, Can be.

I wanna breathe you in, I wanna be so close, You can wear my skin, Like a new set of clothes. So you can't even tell, Where you end and I begin, I wanna breathe you in. I wanna breathe you in.

Your silhouette And moonlight on the wall As you crawl across the bed, Beats all I ever saw The smell of your hair, Falling on my face. Those red wine, kisses Give a buzz with just one taste. Girl you blow, me, away

I wanna breathe you in, I wanna be so close, You can wear my skin, Like a new set of clothes So you can't even tell, Where you end I begin. I want to breathe you in, I want to breathe you in Again, and again, and again. Until the sun comes up Mm again, and again, and again, I can't get enough. I can't get enough.

I wanna breathe you in, I wanna be so close, You can wear my skin, Like a new set of clothes So we can't even tell Where you end and I begin I wanna breathe, you in. I wanna breathe, you, in. I wanna breathe you in.
