

Past Lives

DIIV

I was your home and you locked yourself outside
And run with your ghosts
Back to a place you'd already known

Nowhere to crawl but to your past life
And hide from it all
A buried flower convinced you'll grow kept enough to remind but stayed outside

With nowhere to go
You left nowhere to go