Past Lives

I was your home and you locked yourself outside And run with your ghosts Back to a place you'd already known

Nowhere to crawl but to your past life And hide from it all A buried flower convinced you'll grow kept enough to remind but stayed outside With nowhere to go You left nowhere to go