

Maximum Piss And Vinegar

Dillinger Four

I laughed at what was said, I'd been misled, confusing my enemies
Blind trust in what was put in front of me
You laughed as well, in on the joke, all poker faced
Fingers crossed behind your back
Eyes not betraying how the deck was stacked

And I'd like to be the one to wipe that smile off your face
To let you taste the bitterness that passing times has not erased
And when the house of cards you built has finally toppled in decline
I hope the punishment and pain will last a lifetime

You coast along, you're so damn smart you think
But not quite invisible, you're in my eye and unforgivable

Cuz I'm one step quicker than the last motherfker
That you thought you got over on but they couldn't wait as long
To see it through
You'll let your comfort get the best of you

You'll never see it coming, out of the blue
Like it was nothing, but you will know your situation
Because the end was your creation