

The unknown

Dillon

With the water I fall
Over vertical drops
Moving sand, plucking stones

Carving deep into you
Eroding what we knew
Craving shelter, finding hope

Under pressure we crack
And recede into depths
Far from where we began

The unknown