Just Another Day

You never sing for pleasure You only make the sounds You never feel the magic Cause you think the world is round

You never dance in moonlight You run but you never move You don't believe in someday And the truth is what you prove But it's alright

Just another day

Too many chains around you You laugh but you never smile You don't belong in Heaven But you're here all the while

And it's alright All right

Just another day Another day

Another Day to let you down Another way that they have found

Another Day Another way

You never sing for pleasure You only make the sounds You never feel the magic You think the world is spinning round for you

But it's alright All right Well it's alright

Just Another Day