

All the Love in the World

Dionne Warwick

In your eyes I see only one
Find me the place for us
That's where I belong

There we rise, your glory and mine
Your pain is over now
I make you shine, still believing

All the love in the world won't take me away from you
My love is stronger, I'm what you made me
All the love in the world won't take you away from me
In all my wonder I forever lay down here with you

I find when love slips away
Reach out for all you can
Before it's too late

There you fly, returning to me
Out of your darkest nights
I stand alone, still believing

All the love in the world won't take me away from you
My love is stronger, I forever lay down here with you

My love is true
All your darkest nights
I stand alone, still believing

All the love in the world won't take me away from you
My love is stronger, I forever lay down here with you
All the love in the world won't take you away from me
My love is stronger, I forever lay down here with you
All the love in the world won't take me away from you
