

Captives Of The Heart

Dionne Warwick

You looked at me, did all the moves
The language of the heart, we speak with our eyes
Endless nights surrounding us
There's no one in the world except you and I

We are two captives of the heart, it was as easy as a kiss
Somethings happen that are magic from the start
Tomorrows change the rest tonight, whatever happens from now on
You and I will be two captives of the heart

You move your hand across my skin
Sweet music to the touch, I rise to the sun
And once again we taste the truth
We're prisoners of our love, it grows on and on

We are two captives of the heart
We feel too much to turn away
Yet we know enough of love
To be afraid

We lie silent as the stars, two people turning into one
Breathless victims of the perfect love we make
Nothing's ever gonna change, nothing will remain the same
For all our lives, this is the night we'll remember

Ooh, it's magic

We are two captives of the heart, it was as easy as a kiss
Somethings happen that are magic from the start
Tomorrows change the rest tonight, whatever happens from now on
You and I will be two captives of the heart

Ooh my baby, captives of the heart, it was as easy as a kiss
Somethings happen that are magic from the start
